

GROUP LEADER MILLING (F/M/X)

The Blum family business manufactures flap, hinge, pull-out and pocket systems that are installed in furniture all over the world. Did you know that our production technology consists of 3 areas for basic production, assembly and component production? Our technical experts deal with a wide range of topics - from apprentice training to tool design, from mechanical engineering to control technology and machining.

YOU

- ... lead a team in an appreciative working environment and support team members in their professional and personal development
- ... have a good feeling for the strengths and potential of your employees and are responsible for their professional and personal development
- ... analyze and resolve technical problems in the team
- ... are responsible for the further development of the department through regular exchanges with your group leader colleagues and the head of department
- ... are the point of contact for technical clarifications within the company

WE

- ... value good education with several years of professional experience and a high level of professional, social and methodological competence
- ... are looking for an empathetic, committed and helpful individual who enjoys interacting with people
- ... encourage personal responsibility, so you should work in a structured and independent manner
- ... are internationally networked - language skills in German and English for conversations with our partners would be an advantage
